

Conference Calls Advanced

Audio Meeting Advanced, part of NSL's flexible and affordable conferencing services, offers businesses the advantage of a premium and self-managed virtual conference to connect with others on demand.

Incorporating premium features suitable for large conferences, Audio Meeting Advanced offers sophisticated and feature-rich management options for effective conferencing.

Secure, consistent and cost efficient conferencing anywhere

Audio Meeting Advanced benefits from the unsurpassed security and reliability offered by dedicated PSTN lines and ISDN-based telephony. What's more, unlike internet-based conferencing, Advanced is not plagued by fluctuating bandwidth so enjoys consistently good audio quality with no risk of echo or any cut out issues associated with slow connections.

Furthermore, with no additional charges for its advanced premium options, including dedicated chairperson controls, its self managed advantage offers a cost-effective alternative from operator-assisted conference calls.

The Self-Managed Advantage

Controlling the conference from a watch screen, the chairperson can monitor and identify, mute and unmute callers, as well as dial in additional parties during the call. Conference management functionality allows administrators to send email notifications directly from contacts stored in the portal.

Emails can also include the date and time of the conference, access number, relevant PIN together with additional notes and agendas.

Benefits

- Secure, consistent and cost efficient
- Flexible and affordable
- Sophisticated and feature-rich management options
- Consistently good audio quality
- Dedicated chairperson controls

Features

- Record and retrieve conferences immediately via the management portal
- Distribute multiple access numbers to suit mobile and international callers
- Different caller types: chairperson, contributor and audience for effective control
- Manage contacts and email invitations
- Create bespoke call introduction messages
- Set up conferences immediately or as planned events
- Download reports and statistics immediately for informed decision-making