

PCI Call Payment Processing

Credit and debit card payment is the lifeblood of many organisations and few can afford an interruption in supply. Yet failure to comply with PCI DSS regulations can lead to heavy fines and even jeopardise a business' survival.

Today, organisations that store, process or transmit card holder information must comply with all current, on-going and future PCI regulations. NSL stand out from other providers by offering a solution that protects the card holders information and our customers staff by restricting access to customers card details at all times.

Obtaining PCI compliance is a difficult and costly challenge. Businesses not only have to bear the direct costs, but indirect costs as well due to the disruption caused to their existing processes. NSL provides a cost effective way to meet this challenge and achieve full regulatory de-scope.

Using our PCI DSS accredited platforms, we collect and suppress card details ready for secure processing by payment service providers. No major changes are needed to an organisations' existing processes, and transaction details are instantly available to CRM systems.

We provide a fully PCI Level 1 compliant voice solution with 3 options; live with agent transaction; 'hand off' to the platform to complete the payment after the sales call; or fully automatic process for your customer to ring in and complete payment, ideal for re-occurring payments and renewals.

PCI Call Payment Processing

Choice to suit all payment requirements

With a comprehensive range of fully hosted automated and live card payment solutions, we offer you the opportunity to not only achieve full regulatory de-scope, but also to update your services and streamline your collections. Alternatively, an organisation can decide to operate exactly as it is at present and only de-scope themselves from as much of the PCI process as they choose. Being entirely cloud-based, our services integrate with current CRMs, require no expensive equipment and can be scaled up or down at a moments notice.

Simple and safe

We develop solutions with security and ease-of-use at the forefront of our designs and use our expertise to continually improve the quality of our products. Our live and automated product suite uses bespoke as well as common agent and reporting interfaces to make system training, integration and deployment straight forward.

We provide your business with PCI Compliant solutions tailored to your needs.
